Dearest Harley Dear! —

Rec'd your precious letter yesterday in the next mail - which was 2:30 p.m. It sure was a relief to me, as I left early and hard! I didn't want it to get until p. day. It's bad enough to wait from day to day.

The weather had been ideal all day, and just as soon as I stepped out doors, it began to rain. Can you beat that! It has rained every Friday for months and months! We hope to have fooled the weather man when it comes to my trip. Perhaps when I postpone it - I get him riled up. Hope so anyway. If not I'm going to shake him.

Our anxious to know how you made out, back with needed cash. Am sure you did see it there. You'll come alright, alright! No need hurry, here, that I was here to see you! It must be some big case if it requires 2 days. So far you haven't told me what it is all about, so don't forget "we want to know."

So you were looking at a little cottage? You sure have me anxious to get to that little home of ours. And to you? Oh no! We sure are going to be wonderfully happy once we are together again. What do you say? As to the choosing of rooms don't be too hasty here, first look about and get the best you can, as there is still plenty of time. Honey after Bussehots. day!

I guess that time will soon pass, don't you think?

Well, honey to-morrow I write that big letter I hope when I go over I get a big fat one from you. If I don't, then I know you don't love me anymore.

I shall close with all my love, hugs & kiss to my darling precious buddy. Pretty soon I won't have to write but _____

Envelopingly

Expect mom will be down to-day to enter the hospital.
